PARTNERS IN RECOVERY

Eating disorders are an isolating and lonely experience. In an effort to promote hope, help and support, we have launched a new program called Partners in Recovery or PIR. The PIR program connects those struggling with an eating disorder to a trained volunteer who is in recovery and can provide a listening ear. By sharing personal stories of their own struggle, the partners can offer advice and encouragement on the road to recovery. Sometimes just having someone who "has been there" is a tremendous help in decreasing feelings of isolation.

THE BIG SURPRISE - COMING JANUARY 2016!

EATING DISORDERS COALITION of TENNESSEE

WHAT IS IT LIKE TO EXPERIENCE THE BODY PROJECT?

“The Body Project helped me love and accept my body faster than ten therapy sessions.” - Jessica K.

“The Body Project was amazing and has changed my life and my perspective on food and eating - I think every woman should go through it!” - Anonymous

“I’ll be sharing what I’ve learned with all the women in my life - parents, siblings, nieces, friends, co-workers, workout buddies, and someday my children.” - Amber A.
